

How to Learn French

By

Nelson de Gouveia

@2014 Nelson de Gouveia

nelson@nelsonscomey.com

+27 82 721 6883

CREDITS OPENING

Title - How to Speak French: A Procrastinator's Guide

NARRATOR

Hi and welcome to my guide on how to learn French, one of the most beautiful languages mankind has ever created from the loins of God's infinite anger at the Tower of Babylon. Some people have asked me, "Nelson, what makes you an authority on one of the most beautiful languages in the world." On those occasions, I turn to them and say, "Well, I'm Portuguese, so I can do whatever the f*ck I want."

NARRATOR

In this short video, I'll be giving you handy tips on avoiding the pitfalls I encountered while trying to learn a form of communication that inspired Romeo to get off his own ass and woo Juliet.

Cut to scene of Nelson playing Super Mario.

NARRATOR

So, after getting off my butt and wrote this script, I thought we'd start with a few do's and don't on how to learn French, the Procrastinating way.

Cut to Nelson introducing himself loudly in French in various poses in a public space, then Adele walking up and introducing herself in fluent French.

NARRATOR

How do you handle yourself when a fluent French-speaking hottie comes along and responds to your introduction without knowing more about her language? Here's how not to.

Cut to public scene of Adele and Nelson.

NARRATOR

Number 1: When faced with a similar social situation that involves an inability to communicate in return,
(MORE)

(CONTINUED)

NARRATOR (cont'd)
might not look good on your resume
if you flee the scene.

ADELE <Hello, how are you, it's nice to meet you.>

Nelson looks horrified and runs away.

NARRATOR
Similarly, creating your own internal monologue of French sounds that have no meaning to the language itself and spewing it out at the aforementioned Gaulic individual might leave her feeling insulted.